Local business owners build skills for a stronger future

Eight small business owners are learning practical ways to strengthen their businesses and support their families. Their 12-month skills programme, delivered by Elgin Learning Centre, combines a recognised business qualification with individual coaching and guidance.

Participants learn how to manage money, attract customers, market their services and plan for growth. Grabouw business owner Zweli Mgobozi has already developed a brand identity with help from his mentors. Like others in the group, he hopes to build a stable business that can eventually employ other young people from his own local community.

MORE FROM THE COMMUNITY

SKILLS

Fabian Sarels, Lukho Baliso and Zipho Booi are building skills for careers in wind energy. The three electricians are gaining the skills to take their careers to new heights through an eight-month wind turbine service technician programme, funded by Klipheuwel Wind Farm.

Their journey includes six months of theory and practical training at the SA Renewable Energy Technology Centre, followed by two months of hands-on experience at the wind farm.

EDUCATION

For Genadendal local Dawn Abrahams, the dream of becoming a doctor began close to home, inspired by her father's work in first aid. Today, she is turning that dream into reality as a medical student at Stellenbosch University, supported by our community bursary programme.

With the bursary covering tuition, accommodation, travel and study materials, Dawn can focus on her studies and the future she hopes to build.
